THE "LEAD" TRANSFORMATION

CHANGE MODEL

The transformation of an organization to meet the needs of its stakeholders, especially the patient, is achieved through the utilization of a change model. This model provides a framework for the implementation of changes and the measurement of their impact. The model is designed to ensure that all stakeholders are engaged and that the changes are aligned with the organization's goals.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The recommendations for the transformation of the organization are as follows:

1. Develop a clear vision and strategy for the transformation.
2. Ensure stakeholder alignment and commitment.
3. Implement change management processes.
4. Monitor and evaluate the transformation's progress.
5. Continuously improve and adapt the transformation plan.

CONCLUSION

The transformation of the organization is an ongoing process that requires continuous improvement and adaptation. The recommendations outlined above will help ensure the success of the transformation and the achievement of its goals.
